Just REMEMBER

80's to the 90's

"Let's REMEMBER our years together!"

In June, 1990, 108 members of the Senior Class will graduate from Weston High School.

Where were we in 1980? We were in third grade in Woodland or Field School--where we were learning cursive and multiplication; designing bug projects; performing in "Winnie the Pooh"; reading "The Last of the Really Great Whangdoodles"; learning from Tang/Lang/Boghosian; talking about Mrs. B's "crew cut"; or collecting gypsy-moth caterpillars.

And what was happening in the world around us? Iran had attacked Iraq, marking the beginning of the nine-year war in the Persian Gulf. It was the year of the U.S. boycott of the Olympics in Moscow. Ronald Reagan had defeated Jimmy Carter in the bid for the White House. John Lennon, of the Beatles, was killed. "The Empire Strikes Back" came out in the movie theater and viewers of "Dallas" found out that Kirstin had shot JR.

Much has changed during the decade of the 80's, but our memories of the good times and the friendships we've formed at Weston High School will always remain. Join us as we do our best to "remember" our years together.

Student Life

What makes up "Student Life?" There are lots of things involved-- like classes, sports, music, clubs, even out-of-school activities. But where would we be without the notorious "free," probably the most important aspect of our life at Weston High School.

The adult perception of a "free" is that it is a quiet time whose primary purpose is the pursuit of knowledge. Freshmen usually use their free periods this working on long-term projects. Sophomores tend to work on home-work due the next day. By junior year, homework due the next period is hastily completed. Seniors no longer use "frees" for their intended purpose. Instead the free becomes a time for socializing--sharing the latest gossip, and stressing about college.

I know there is more to life as a student than my "frees," but they are mighty important.

Yes We Are The SENIORS

"We've seen some hard times. Holding it together ain't always easy. But we've got to hold on, hold on." -James Taylor

Once a group of detached cliques, the class of 1990 has matured and become unified. One can simply look in the cafeteria to see that students in our class are no longer exluded from conversations, but are welcomed instead. There is a certain sense of satisfaction which comes when all members of the class feel comfortable enough to greet each other with a very friendly "Hi.

When over sixty percent of the class attended the prom preparation meeting last spring, we all knew that something special was beginning. The true character of the class came forth, as the year progressed, and as we showed ourselves, and others, how much talent and spirit we really possessed.

One might think that, with such a small class,there would be less possibility for excellence; however, this is not the case. Having a smaller class only meant that our efforts had a greater potential to surface. And surface they did, as more and more members of the class became involved in class activities during senior year.

It is for this reason I am most proud to be a member of the class of 1990. It seems almost redundant to say that great things will come from this class, because great things already have been accomplishedl

Freshmen dazed--

Seniors at ease--

The First Day of School

As bodies, bronzed from the summer's sun, reentered the high school for yet another school year, a few looked lost in it's vast expanse. These, the freshmen, had attended an orientation day for "practice," but nevertheless their eyes flashed about in confusion. The sight of upperclassmen was just too overwhelming for these inexperienced eyes.

Students drifted through their morning classes. Freshmen, in a daze, consulted maps of the high school, while seniors eased themselves into the "normal" routine.

By the time noon rolled around, the smells of a barbecue wafted through the corridors. The entire student body stampeded toward the "grub", with two dollars in hand, while friends joined one another for lunch in the front courtyard. Summer memories drifted in and out of conversations.

Classes resumed and the day ended unceremoniously as Weston's 439 students looked ahead toward another 179 exciting school days. The underclassmen dreamed about next summer's vacation, while the lucky seniors could think only of graduation.

All in all, the first day was a time for renewing acquaintances, and a time for the lucky 108 seniors to begin thinking about their final day.

Car accident--
Victims trapped--

THE JAWS OF LIFE

During the afternoon of Tuesday, October 17, Marian Davidson, Laura Lane and Greg Lee presented a scenario of a drunk driving accident- with the help of the Weston Police and Fire Departments, as well as the medics from Leonard Morse Hospital.

The accident had already occurred when we, the audience, tuned into the picture. All of the participants were still in the wrecked car as the emergency vehicals began arriving. The driver, Marian Davidson, was immediately removed from the car and treated with a neck brace. After surveying the scene, it was decided that both Laura and Greg needed assistance in getting out of the "totaled" vehicle. The fire department had to remove the side door to get Laura out. Greg was another story. Using an emergency generator and large saws, the firemen had to cut up the car to get him out. After all the victims were placed in ambulances, they were transported to the gym which was set up as a hospital emergency room.

The audience moved into the gym to view the hospital scene and were introduced to a real emergency room doctor and his staff, who proceeded to treat the victims. Laura, severely injured was pronounced DOA from a cracked skull. Mr. & Mrs. Taggart, posing as Laura's parents, were told that their daughter had died, as we viewed their shocked reaction. Greg proved to be in stable condition; Marian emerged with minor neck injuries and in good enough condition to be questioned by Officer Millian. At the conclusion of their conversation, Marian was arested for driving under the influence and taken from the scene in handcuffs.

This assembly was conducted to give us a visual lesson of the consequnces of drinking and driving. Let's hope it did just that and never becomes a reality.

Prom '89--

Junior class--

"ISLAND PARADISE"

Although it may have been a rough flight,the stay on "Island Paradise" made it all worth while.

The struggles to prepare for the prom were intense. The girls had to put on their formal dresses; while the boys got decked out in their tuxedos. After complaints of "the dress doesn't look as good as it did in the store," or "I look silly in this penquin suit," one could assume all was ready. Wrong! Now you and your date were required to assemble on the front lawn for a a photo session. After getting the pictures taken, the rest of the night seemed a breeze.

After an elegant dinner, the couples set off for the Prom itself. Arriving in the "tropically" decorated town hall, everyone got "pumped up" and danced to the band "Breakdown."

The highlight of the night proved to be neither the decorations nor the dancing. Instead it was the setting off of the fire alarm, requiring the whole building to be evacuated. The fire and police departments were called, and the two hundred, or more, people attending the prom had to wait outside in the cold until it was "safe" to return to the island.

Nevertheless, the Prom itself was terrific. Everyone looked marvelous -- enjoying the island spirit and creative decorations while they boogied to the fine music. Our memories of this special evening are filled with happiness.

Nice job Class of '90 and all their advisors! Thanks for making "Island Paradise" really work.

Prom Preparation

Island Paradise-- it was the most exciting prom ever! But it couldn't have been such a success without the efforts of the class of '90.

Many months before the Junior Prom, the preparations began. The band, "The Break Down", was chosen to play, streamers were ordered, and construction plans were perfected--all long before the last crucial week preceeding the Big Night.

The whole week before prom night, members of the class of '90 worked together painting and building, showing tremendous class spirit, establishing many new friendships. Everyone helped and cooperated, whether preparations involved painting one of the many palm trees, or constructing the (running) waterfall. A spectacular Tiki Hut was built to house tables where refreshments would be served. Waves were put on the stage to emphasize that "The Break Down" really would be a "splash." An island map proudly displayed the names of each member of the class of 1990.

All in all, prom preparations and "set-up" were nearly as much fun as attending the actual prom.

Differences Between

Then and Now

Then, we brought 'snacks" in brown paper bags with our names written on the bag. Now, we head down to the cafeteria to the vending machines or to grab some breakfast between classes.

Then, we listened to stories, such as "James and the Giant Peach," being read to us. Now, we struggle over Hamlet and Crime and Punishment.

Then, we went outside during recess to play Chinese jump rope, wall ball, Jacks, Seven-up, soccer and freeze tag. Now, we go to McDonalds (Micky D's) or Pappa Gino's during "recess."

Then, we listened to such popular tunes as "Jack and Diane", "Dirty Laundry" and "I Love Rock 'n Roll" on WHTT hit radio. Now, we listen to everything from popular music, to classical, to heavy metal, to jazz, to opera, to showtunes, to new age music, to soul.

Then , there were 150 of us. Now only sixty-two of that orignal number are left. We've added some new members and are down to a total of 107.

Then, we went to birthday parties wearing frilly pink dresses or uncomfortable suits and played "Pin-The-Tail-on-the-Donkey" or "Truth-or-Dare." Now, to quote Kate Billings, "We wear party dresses and play 'different' games."

Then, we were "little and innocent." Now, we're stressed over college and academics, but "wild and crazy" when we relax at "non-existent" senior parties.

-Christina Carlson

OPPOSITE PAGE. Sixty-two (?) "Lifers" - Well, not quite! But, they're still smiling after twelve-plus years.

Goodbye To The "Lifers"

There were 150 of us in first grade. Sixty-two, of these originals, are left. We are the "lifers", those of us who have traveled together for twelve or more years and who are now going off in separate directions to leave all the memories, the fun, the happiness, the smiles and the tears which parade across our minds as we look back at the twelve years of our lives at Weston's Public Schools.

From Country to Woodland, to the Middle School, to the High School--we have all been together. Now, come June, the only reminder of the Class of 1990 will be the shadows flitting across walls of images of the past, the memories in our minds--the nostalgia, the sentimentality, the half-smile, half-teary countenance one gets on looking back at fond memories.

Goodby everyone - the sixty-two - and all who came after, who made these years the best!

Love To Party

"Happy Birthday to you. Happy Birthday to you. Happy Birthday Class of Ninety. Happy Birthday to you."

---Birthday parties: party streamers, tooting horns, pastel-colored hats and paper products, frosted cakes topped with waxy candles, Pin-the-Tail-on-the-Donkey, Twister, candy hunts, freeze tag, clowns and magicians, party favors, pizza and popcorn, little girls in pretty pink party dresses, little boys squirming in ties and suits, segregated parties . . .

---Older now. Sleep-over slumber parties, rollerskating, bowling, movies, dancing, videos (every episode of "Friday the 13th"!), pizza ordered out, Diet Coke, pillow fights, Light-as-a-Feather-Stiff-as-a-Board, Truth-or-Dare, ghost stories . . .

---Senior Parties: overabundance of illicit substances . . .

Although the maturity level of these parties probably hasn't increased much since the days of streamers and horns, the idea of a party has remained constant - fun with friends throughout the ages.

Recycling - No-Smoking

Weston High School is doing its best to save the environment. The Student Council has implemented a system to recycle styrofoam and thus help preserve landfills. "We became aware of the problem that strofoam is causing last year," commented Student Council Co-president, Vijay Lathi. "We also realized that the cafeteria used styrofoam and quite frankly . . . . we were alarmed."

Decorative styrofoam recpetacles now grace the cafeteria. Council member, Jon Meterperel, views the change as positive, and is happy with the student response. "People have pretty much cooperated," he commented, "and are aware that they are doing something beneficial for the environment. The system works well. In fact, I'm thinking of putting recycling bins in my own home."

In an era of erosion, disappearing rain forests, and contaminated land, Weston High School is doing it part to restore the environment.

Smokers at Weston High School were forced to take a different look at their situation this year, when a state law forced Mr. MacDonald to close down the smoking lounge. MacDonald hopes that the new law will help smokers to quit, as well as to create a smoke-free environment for the school.

Student reactions have been mixed. Some smokers have quit, while others continue to smoke. As far as punishment for smoking on school grounds is concerned, Mr. Mac Donald has chosen the "personal approach," involving a range of punishments which can be applied to any student caught smoking.

Many teachers are relieved that they no longer have to patrol the bathrooms, but they should be aware that many students aren't going to quit because of this setback. Even though there is probably less smoke in the High School, there may not be fewer smokers.

These are the sights and images which will be remembered in the minds of students and teachers about our first annual (we hope) Weston High School Art's Week.

Thanks to the help of the newly formed Fine Art's Committee, composed of students, teachers and parents, the Art's Week was a great success. It accomplished the major purpose of the Fine Art's Committee--to bring the arts into greater prominence in our school.

Weston's Very Own

Royal Wedding

During November, Mr Mac Donald, accompanied by his wife, left school for two weeks to attend the wedding of a former Weston High School student, Shakil Aftab. Shakil had invited the MacDonalds to come to Pakistan as his personal guests--portal to portal. Shakil lives in Pakistan and works for his father, who is a Pakistanian nobleman and immensely wealthy.

The wedding, and the entire trip, proved to be a real extravaganza and stories about it caught the imagination of many of us. We were intrigued with Shakil--with his wealth and royal standing in the Pakistanian society.

Imagine our delight when we found out that Shakil and his new bride, Anita, were planning to visit Boston and the high school--as one stop on their "Round-the-World" honeymoon. During a Conference Period, all interested faculty and students attended a reception held to honor the new bride and groom. Mr. MacDonald made a presentation of an Honarary diploma to Shakil; and Mr. Gearan gave him some architectual drawings, done by Shakil while he was a student here.

We were all fascinated with Anita who proved to be a beautiful young woman, dazzlingly dressed in silk and gold.

When asked to speak to faculty acquaintances and interested onlookers, Shakil expressed his wish that Weston students would make the most of their wonderful facility, and urged us to use all the equipment that we have to its full potential. He told the gathering that he has visited school all over the world and views ours as one of the finest.

We will long remember our experience-with Shakil and Anita. We wish them well in the future.

Dedicated To Our

Cathy Lepore

The Class of 1990 is pleased to dedicate this yearbook to a very special person, Cathy Lepore. Ms. Lepore, who has been at Weston High School for fifteen years, has decided to continue her education by going to graduate school which means that she will be leaving us. She will be missed by the students and faculty as she has contributed much to the athletic department as a trainer, and has been a good friend to many people.

Ms. Lepore is a very caring person, one who is always there to listen when one is in need of a friendly ear; she always has a shoulder to lend. She fills the training room with witty and humorous statements.

The Class of 1990 is grateful to Ms. Lepore for being such a wonderful advisor and for her willingness to "put up with us." Volunteering to be our class advisor, shows the dedication that Ms. Lepore has to the students and their welfare.

Everyone is so excited that Ms. Lepore is going to further her education, but sad to see her leave. She has been a major part of the school and we will miss her very much. Ms. Lepore, we will never find someone good enough to replace you!

-Allison Kamp

People

Walk around school. Each person you see is different-- with unique interests and ideas, likes and dislikes. Even a short stroll around the cafeteria is interesting: A freshman softly humming the lyrics of "New Kids on the Block" is standing next to the tye-dye clad senior Dead Head. Or check out one kid dressed in an entire Polo collection hanging out with someone in ripped, faded jeans with a heavy-metal-concert T-shirt.

In the library, students try to cram in homework for the next period. Near the auditorium, drama people gather in commune.

Stereotypes of preppy jocks, geeky scholars, bouncy blond cheerleaders and leather-clad tough-guys disperse, each seen in different areas of the school, each uniquely different and separate - but each of these parts blend together to make up a "cool" whole.

Ten years ago, we juniors were first graders at the Country School. We don't remember many specific details, but we do remember what it was like to go to school and not have homework. In first grade, we learned how to add and subtract-- it was nothing complicated, just the basics.

The most exciting part of first grade was the letter people. There was a character for each letter, like "Donut Dan" and "Hairy Harry," and each week we learned a new letter. Things were slow back in first grade!

A decade ago we had snack time and lunch time, so we never went hungry. At lunch time we had lunch mothers who told stories while we ate. And most importantly, we had recess twice a day. Dodgeball, hopscotch and jumprope were among our daily activities. Back at Country School, life was simple with few pressures.

As first graders, the class of 1991, was just beginning to learn the math, reading and games which make us the great class we are today.

SOPHOMORES

A decade ago, the Sophomores were in kindergarten. Everyday was the same! After getting off the huge yellow school bus, we went straight to our classrooms where we would remain nearly all day.

The morning began with "Show and Tell," everyone's favorite activity. We brought in gerbils, violins and stuffed teddy bears. We would then recite the alphabet and practice counting to ten. "Snack" was next and then it was time to go down the frightening green ramp on our way to recess. It was very scary because we passed the second grade hall in which the "Rulers" of the Country School presided. After completing the "Bird Fitness" course and earning our patches of honor, we came back into our classroom to "calm down" and have a story read to us.

Then, once again, the school buses returned to take us home. How simple life was in kindergarten!

FRESHMEN

ABOVE. Rebecca Hendricks and Michelle Adams are happy to see that high school isn't so bad.

Entering the high school was just as confusing and exciting as walking into my first day of nursery school.

Every four-year old entering nursery school looked disoriented. We were shifted around like a herd of cattle, but eventually found our way to our "cubbies", which were marked with our names in bright yellow letters. By the end of the first week, we had mastered the art of nap-time, snack-time and coloring. We had defeated the jungle gym and were ready to tackle the potato prints. After a full year of learning, our cry was "bring on the alphabet!"

On September 6, 1989, these same kids, with a few new members, shuffled into the Weston High School Cafeteria with the same frightened look. What a funny sight to see one-hundred and four of us huddled together.

Through the first week, we got lost, complained about too much homework, and struggled with our lockers. Then, that point came around again, when we began to "catch on," when our schedules were worked out and our lockers opened. After the first term, it seemed as though we'd been here forever.

Activities

Name your pleasure. At Weston High School, there are many different activities to appeal to a diverse student body. Students are encouraged to be active outside of, as well as in, class and it's hardly ever a problem finding something to do.

Like to sing? Be a singer! Like to act ? Try out for the plays! Like to watch T.V.? Join the Wonder Year's Club! Like to write? Write news for "Wildcat Tracks" or stories and poetry for "Maelstrom." Like to ski? Join the Ski Club!

Activities are a way to meet new people and to branch out in new directions; a way to develop new talents and interests. Whatever it is you like to do, it's here if you take the time to investigate -- and if it's not, make it be. Sing, act, watch T.V., write, ski -- be involved! All you have to do is decide . . . . .

Like to draw, design, and create the images of the '90's? Join the YEARBOOK STAFF!

Just REMEMBER

We Know Our Business

IT'S NOTABLE

Future Business Leaders learn about business. Investment Challenge is a game designed to teach the stock market by "playing" it.

The Future Business Leaders of America organiztion is composed of a group of students, of all ages, who are interested in learning about the workings of business. Their goals are to eventually establish a business, manage it, and sell products for a desired profit.

Their present activities include organizing and attending in-school seminars conducted by successful, experienced business executives; and also taking field trips to tour business establishments.

With these experiences, members can expect to have an informed view of the business world and be better prepared for the future.

Another of the group's activities was AT&T's Investment Challenge. Arranged by Mrs. Hoyle, this "mock stock" trading game involves a select group of students who trade, sell, and buy stocks. Each member is given a $500,000 portfolio and avidly follows the stock market in order to increase profits while competing with other high school students across the country.

The aim of the Challenge is to increase the awareness of the workings on Wall Strteet. Prizes for the ten over-all national champions include a thousand dollar cash scholarship, as well as a week's vacation in the Bahamas.

We Mean Business

Under the leadership of Thelma Hoyle, the Business Advisory Council is organizing school-wide assemblies on various topics. With the help of a group of established business people, they have gathered ideas for speeches and presentations which they feel will appeal to students interested in the business world, and also to students not opting for business careers.

Topics being considered include "the stock market's vital role in the countries well-being" and suggestions on "how to make easy money in today's stock market."

They have already conducted a very successful assembly, "Youth and The Law," which featured Attorney, Robert Clayman and Massachusetts Superior Court Judge, J. Harold Flannery, who answered questions about our rights and responsibilities under the law.

Stockyard is a student-run school store that sells items to benefit the school community. These items range from sweatshirts and sweat pants; to notebooks. Stocks are purchased, by members, at the beginning of the year and sold in the spring to share in the profits earned.

Stockyard is adding a school store in the cafeteria this year. Its construction began in November and it will be open for business at the beginning of the second semester.

Brains at Work

IT'S NOTABLE

The goal of the SCIENCE TEAM is to have fun with science. The MATH TEAM looks to another season marked by "integrate-ness."

The Science Team has "fun" with science. The goal of the West Suburban Science League (WS^2L) is to teach the members of its component teams (such as Weston) about science, through creativity and competition. Students learn practical physics by building paper marble-runs, designed to slow down a marble; or building paper-mache yachts that are fast and maneuverable. Note-taking skills are tested; as are concepts of biology, geology and chemistry. Questions ranging from the number of hydrogen nuclei in a baseball, to the names of the constellations are asked - all in a state of friendly competition, with stress on the aspect of enjoyment.

-James Vaughan

One frequently hear the murmurings of mad mathematicians while walking past Room 17 during Wednesday Conference Periods.

Cries of "Eureka . . . I've got it," and "Mr. McCowan . . I need help," characterize the joys and frustrations of all Math Team members. Led by Senior Tri-captains Victor Chiang, Jesse Johnson and Brian Siu, the Math Team looks to another exciting season marked by "integrate-ness."

Keeping up Relations

IT'S NOTABLE

INTERNATIONAL CLUB members participate in cultural events, like pizza outings. CLOSE-UP members learn that D.C. stands for "Da Capital."

The International Club enables students to participate in cultural outings and attend discussion groups. The group, led by Michelle Neuman, Melissa Mueller, Becky Dempsey and Valerie Steff, sponsors such events as the annual Send-A-Treat candy sale fundraiser. Dinner at an Italian restaurant, trips to foreign movies, sponsorship of a speaker who had been in Siberia, and running another Dia de Fiesta for the children at Woodland School were among the club's activities. The advisors, Ms. daCosta and Mrs. Wohlers, helped make the year fun for all members.

The International Club's activities are designed to show the importance of foreign languages as the basis for the discovery of exciting new cultures.

While Amy William, '91, studied "en francais" abroad in Rombas, France, Valerie Steff learned all about America during her one-year stay in Weston. Stef, an important member of the International Club, values the differences between the French and American cultures and hopes that her stay in America will improve her English as she wants to become an interperter. This is the thirty-fifth year of the Rombas-Weston exchange.

"Cream " of the Crop

IT'S NOTABLE

National Honor Society, Student Cabinet, and the Student Council represent the "cream" of Weston High School.

The National Honor Society is an organization which recognizes juniors and seniors for their outstanding achievements in school. Members inducted in their junior year include: Josh Madden, Kelly Gunderson and Sayaka Takashi. They were joined by Sean Becker, Eric Roiter, Heidi Learner, Sarah Bromberg, Andrea Agnello, Alexis Wood and John Kerwin, who were named to the Honor Society during their senior year.

-Heidi Learner

The Student Cabinet consists of the Vice-Presidents of each class, the Co-Presidents of the school, the regional SAC representatives and Mrs. Marsh. This group provides a liason between all of the student government organizations. During our meetings, class updates are exchanged and school-wide problems are discussed.

-Andrea Agnello

As the new school year dawned, the Student Council was already getting set for a productive season. They looked toward Vijay Lathi and Kate Billings, co-presidents, to provide leadership and guidance. Four-year veteran, Jon Meterparel, and third-year vet, Sean Becker, also gave much needed help to the younger Council members. Rounding out the senior contingent were Eric Roiter, Leeli Brooks and Victor Chiang.

Concerned Students

Every year Juniors and Seniors who volunteer for Peer Counseling spend twelve nights training for their visits to the eighth grade in the spring. Each session focuses on a different subject which will help the counselors in answering any questions these students might have about high school life--questions about drugs, alcohol, sex, school work and so on.

The program is designed to help eighth graders get rid on any misconceptions and fears they may have about the high school. It is hoped that, as a result of these meetings, eighth graders will acquire a better understanding of the high school. Incidentally, not only the eighth graders learn a lot from Peer Counseling, but also the Juniors and Seniors.

SADD flies a flag outside of the high school every Friday as a reminder not to drink and drive. PEER COUNSELORS share ideas with eighth graders.

Students Against Drunk Driving at Weston High is just one of many national chapters of SADD. Under the guidance of President, Nicole Thurdgill, and Advisor, Andrea Regina, SADD helps spread the message that "drinking and driving don't mix." By selling caps and T-shirts, SADD hopes to raise enough money to allow them to sponsor activities that will inform students of the hazards of drinking and driving.

Come join the Wonder Year's Club! This club is in its first year of existence and is designed to bring all fans of the show together.

Led by executive members Lars Anderson, president, and Todd Lonergan, vice president, the Wonder Year's Club has many members, all of whom are dedicated fans of this show, which is a reflection of a man's recollections of his childhood in the 60's.

-Heidi Learner

The 1989-1990 school year marked the third season that Weston High School Ski Team has raced in the Wachusett's League. Thanks to the tireless volunteer coaching of Jerry Leone, we came in third out of six teams. This is very impressive since we are the smallest and newest team in the league, one not even recognized as a varsity sport at Weston High School.

In addition to the racing program, the club offers recreational skiing at Wachusetts and also several skiing trips during the fall and winter, including annual trips to Summit County, Colorado and Tuckerman's Ravine.

Groups with a Purpose

We enter the Main Office early in the morming--a team of students, anxious to enlighten our peers. We approach the microphone. We wait, in turn, to read the announcements. We have entered the "Announcement Zone," a world, not of sight or mind, but of news.

If you've ever wondered when the "Keyboarding Club" meets, or where you may find the "Coalition for Larger Lockers" - lend an ear to the Announcer's Club.

The Black Student Union is an important organization to many students at Weston High School. As a result of their energies, the Black Student Union has produced exciting dance and tasty baked goods for their food sales. One of the most welcome food sales is their pizza sale, held every first Wednesday when the cafeteria doesn't sell lunch.

Does the smell of a nice, cold stop bath send you into fits? Do dark rooms turn you on? Do you answer when Ms. Bancroft calls? Can you ever "not get enough of those tongs?" If you answered yes to any of the above questions, you must be a member of the world renowned and internationally-acclaimed Weston High School Photo Club. Our in-depth investigators report that this small, but enthusiastic, group has little to say about their activity except, "Photo is my thing. I dig it." What a wild group, huh? Who else would melt at the words "unlimitied darkroom access." It is said that if you go into the darkroom at twelve midnight you can hear them screeching with blood-curdling cries, "THAT'S IT...A PERFECT PRINT...AH HAH HAH..."

To some, United States History just isn't enough. To others, mere Biology is boring and common knowledge. Should these people suffer through these classes? Do they have an alternate choice?

But of course they do. It's Alternate Studies! Where else can you study the Buddist monk rituals of New Mexico or the specialized functions of the Southeastern blow fish?

Yes, Alternate Studies offers students the chance to work by themselves, with other students, or with an advisor-- on subjects which interest them. They can chose whatever topic they like (and get credit for it...)

That's perfect!

Both BOYS' and GIRLS' GLEE CLUBS lost many fine singers to graduation, but still provided another year of quality entertainment.

The Boys' Glee Club lost a large amount of talent to graduation and the new school year seemed bleak to the returning gents. However, new students added to their ranks and Boys' Glee Club was able to provide another year of quality entertainment.

Chris Pierson, Nathan Gray, Bennett Shamsai and Jesse Johnson tried out at the Senior Districts Auditions at Westford Academy. All four were accepted into the1990 chorus with Gray and Shamsai receiving All-State recommendations, making them eligible to audition for the All-State Music Festival in February.

-Nathan Gray

Once again, the year began for the group of dedicated Girls' Glee singers of Weston High School. Despite the fact that this group, too, had lost many fine singers to graduation, everyone worked together to make beautiful music and to give three fine concerts during the year.

Our greatest support, of course, came from Mrs. Taggart, whose leadership worked in perfect harmony with the students hard work. Most importantly, it was not only the quality of singers, but the teamwork which brought the group together to experience another successful year.

Singing in Concert

One frequently hears the melodious sounds of Mrs. Taggart's Mixed Chorus when passing through the hallway next to the auditorium. The voices of many male and female singers from Weston High, all combine to create beautiful music for our Winter Concert, our March Concert and our Pop's Concert in May.

The chorus consists of many musically-inspired singers who work, with the guidance of Mrs. Taggart, to make their every performance the best possible.

The Sound of Music

IT'S NOTABLE

The ORCHESTRA pleads for a group "full not only in sound, but in size". PRALINES is not a cluster of almonds, rather an elite singing group.

Pralines, contrary to popular belief, is not a cluster of almonds. Pralines is a nine-girl a cappella madrigal singing group which meets and practices weekly. They give performances outside of school, and have sung for nursing homes and Christmas parties. Their professional debut involved singing at Faneuil Hall Market place.

Recently revived after a two-year lapse into near-extinction, the Pralines are led by Seniors Kate Billings and Amy Oelgeschlager. To insure the group's survival, several sophomores and juniors have been included.

-Heidi Learner

The 1989-90 Orchestra season started out with a deep fullnes of sound and spirit. The only thing lacking from Mr. Mori's orchestra, was its "fullness" of members. Unfortunately, the final class count was one piano player, one bass, one viola, two celli, four violins and one flute. In preparation for concerts, a few Middle School students joined the High School Orchestra in hopes of filling the rather large gaps. On days of members' absences, or simultaneous private music lessons, the group sometimes found itself in lonely quintets.

Let's help Mr. Mori in the next year to do away with the diminishing number of musicians, and return to him with an orchestra, full not only in sound, but in size.

We Have Spirit

LEFT. You never know who will show up in a Weston Yearbook! (This picture will be held against you, Officer Millan.)

Why is this band so peppy? Because if we win the weekly pep award, we get a free box of M&M's. Actually, it's more than that. Music makes us happy and we hope we can make you happier with it too. So come see us and have a listen.

A Poem For The Actor

IT'S NOTABLE

THE THEATER COMPANY presents the "Poet and the Rent" by David Mamet and "The Actor's Nightmare" by Christopher Durang.

This fall featured a hilarious double-bill, with two one-act plays The first, The Poet and The Rent by David Mamet, depicted a day in the life of a starving poet. We saw Josh Frank as the poet whose hardships we followed in this short, but zany story. This tale was filled with song and scandal, ranging from french whips to whipped cream, and hippies to heavy machinery.

The second play was The Actor's Nightmare by Christopher Durang, which was the story of George, an innocent accountant, who found himself backstage at a professional theater five minutes before the curtain was due to rise. Having no idea where, or even who, he was, he stumbled on stage to lead us into another weird and wild hour. We saw David Sack stuttering over Shakespeare among a group of stunned actors and actresses who thought he knew what he was doing.

The Weston High Theater Company is working hard this year, with Amy Oelgeschlager, Jennifer Love, and Catherine Zuromskis as officers. When the company isn't on stage, they're backstage working on what's up and coming for the future. A sense of pride and unity has been created by this year's group which we hope to see heightened as the season continues.

Maelstrom: A whirlpool off the West coast of Norway; hence, any turmoil of wide-reaching influence.

Here in jolly ole' Weston, Maelstrom denotes our very own anually-published literary magazine. It is composed of the poetry, artwork, and prose of the academic pow-wow we call Weston High School. Every Tuesday, Conference Period, Maelstrom staff members read works that have been submitted, voting "yes," "no," or the infamous "maybe" as to whether each piece is meritorious of an appearance in Mael strom.

We want your stuff! Be ye not afraid! We're just looking for writing that's fun to read, touches on something we can undersand, and has some kick to it. "JUST DO IT."

We Hold The Memories

IT'S NOTABLE

"Just Remembering" is the theme we've chosen for the 1990 Yearbook. We hope you will enjoy the "memories" we've gathered for you.

"Mrs. Nick, I think we have a problem--sixteen pages are gone!" This year the Weston High School Yearbook joined the computer age and for the first time completed nearly all of the book on computer disks. The staff hoped that using computers would increase efficiency and decrease errors. It did that, however it created some unexpected problems. We lost sixteen pages to some unexplained computer problem. Undaunted, and just a little frazzled, the staff and our grand poobah, Mrs. Nick, managed to make the deadline in spite of it . . . and you thought that the yearbook wasn't exciting.

This was also the first year for Section Editors. Separate editors were chosen for each section of the yearbook, giving Geoff Goldberg and Chris Carlson, the editorial editors, time to oversee the whole book.

Hours in Room 2, hours in the darkroom, and days working on the computer have combined to make the finished product--the '90 Yearbook--one of the best in years. Also, if you've looked at the Senior Section, you can see that there are half as many people per page as compared to last year. THE CLASS OF 1990 - truly a decade year - RULES.

Sports

It is a tradition at Weston that athletic competition is as rigorous as the academic curriculum.

In the fall, the crunch of pads can be heard on the gridiron, along with the clashing of sticks nearby. Runners, resembling the nimble Greek God Nike, run with the wind. As the season turns, the athletes seek refuge indoors. Swimmers splash in their aquatic environment; wrestlers sweat off weight like Oprah. Hoopsters box out and play man-to-man, while runners again pound their feet. In the spring, the 'Cats return out-of-doors. The sound of bat hitting ball pierces the air, as the Indian game of Lacrosse takes place nearby. Tennis players display forceful forehands and beautiful backhands. The docile puffers continue to circle the track.

The tradition of academic excellence will continue at Weston High, along with the pride and glory of Wildcat athletics.

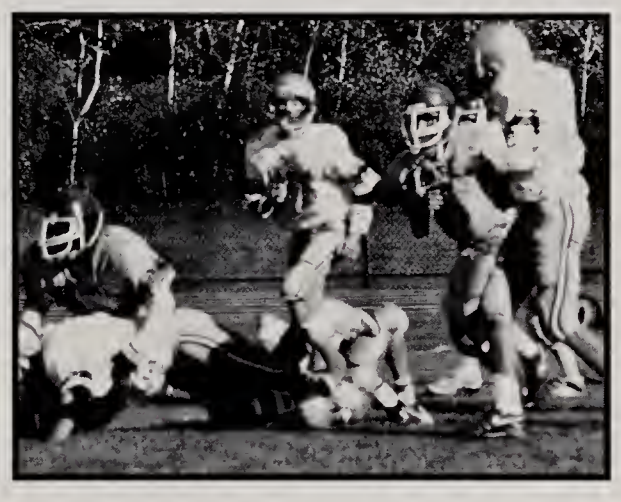
Striving to Excel

During Each Season

The '89 Wildcats struggled through a rather disappointing season. In many ways, however, the season was a great success. The team earned a dignity in defeat that few teams achieve in victory.

The season began with pre-season camp, where we had only thirty-nine kids try out, including twenty-two freshmen. The odds were against us from the start with such an inexperienced group. Perhaps that is why we were able to put all of the inter-grade rivalries aside, and come together as a team. Despite our small numbers and lack of experience, we were able to win our first two games, including a 14-12 upset over Concord-Carlisle. The season was mostly downhill from that point, however.



BOYS' VARSITY FOOTBALL

Adam Alexander rushes to help a tackled teammate up, after a brilliant pass play.

Never-the-less, many of the seniors found that they were able to rise to the occasion and emerge as heroes. These "heroes" included the "Raging Cacausian", Angus Junkin, who became our defensive M.V.P. in his first and last year as a Varsity starter. Junior tri-captain, Roman Savino, kept our spirit alive with his "never say die" pre-game speeches.

Many of the underclassmen -- such as Will Sandalls, Sekou Allen, and Chris DiBenedetto -- contributed to the team's effort as well.

Though the season was shy of wins, it set new standards for Weston football -- standards such as team work, brotherhood, and family.

Holding Heads High

Despite Disappointing Season

What went wrong? That was the big question asked about this year's Boys' Varsity season which ended with three wins, twelve losses and three ties. It was a season full of immense ups and downs, with much disappointment and some joy. There really isn't any answer to the question, but Coach Wright can't be held responsible for the lack-luster season.

From the start, he and his players showed enthusiasm and drive, but just couldn't get it together on game days. The season wasn't a total loss, however, as Wright showed the players how to have fun and come out of every game with a winning attitude.

This was both Coach Wright and Coach Panell's first year at Weston and they each contributed tremendously. Wright became part of the team quickly and was accepted by the players as someone who could keep their spirits high with his humor and understanding. Panell taught the team a "soccer is fun" attitude, as well as having the ability to work well with the players on an individual level.

The players on both Junior Varsity and Varsity gave their all for every game, trying to make the season the best it could possibly be, both in winning and in spirits. Good luck to all the members of next year's team!

Reaching New Goals

In An Undefeated Season

The 1989 Varsity Field Hockey Team has had a great and undefeated season. They played some really tough teams and pulled through with eleven wins and three tied-scores. Co-captain, and goalie, Melissa Fish, made some real heart-thumping saves.

The high scorers were Susy Huizenga, who had twenty-two goals; Jessica Ferri and Rhonda Benotti were not far behind. All of the players just mentioned also assisted with many goals.

At the end of the season, the team was named Dual County League champions and went on to play in the DCL tournament. Despite the winning season, the end result of the tournament was disappointing, when the team lost to Bishop Fenwick in the first round of the championship.

The Varsity Team had five players named Dual County League All-Stars: Suzy Huizenga, Ronda Benotti, Mychal Feldman, Melissa Fish and Kate Rossiter, with honorable mention going to Jessica Ferri and Vivian Chong.

The fourteen undefeated games and a trip to the Dual County League championship tournament made this season a great success. Coach Lisa Cropper felt that being DCL champs was a great achievement for her and her players.

Weston's Varsity Field Hockey Team will be losing some real good players to graduation, but the upcoming players will be a large benefit to the team next season.

THANKS FOR EVERYTHING!!!

You never know until you try
And you never try unless you really try.
You give it your best shot;
And do the best you can.

And if you've done everything
In your power, and still fail-
The truth of the matter is
That you haven't failed at all.

When you reach for your dreams
No matter what they may be
You grow from the reaching:
You learn from the trying
You win from doing! -Coach Tanner

GIRLS' VARSITY SOCCER

Kate Roiter skillfully steals the ball away from the opposing team's best player.

Despite the disapointment in the Weston Girls' Soccer team, we never lost the team's motto of "togetherness." We had a roller coaster season and ended with a record of 8-8-2. The highlight of the season was tying Acton-Boxboro, the second seeded team in the Dual County League. Other great games were slipping past Lincoln-Sudbury and destroying Algonquin.

The Girls' Soccer team is a" family" both one and off the field and "together" they have learned that there is "no easy way out!"

If there was a lesson to be learned from this season, it was to not take any games for granted. By applying what they have learned, the 1990 team will have sucess. With every end, there is a new beginning, so good luck "Team of 1990" and bring back the "Weston Girls' Soccer Pride."

Excellent Tradition

Means Our Share of Hardware

The Boys' Cross Country Team, in what many expected to be a rebuilding year, ended the season with a six-one record, the only blemish being a loss to Wayland. Not only did Weston fare well in Dual County meets, but they racked up their share of "hardware" at invitationals as well.

At the Middlesex Meet, "Ranger" Rick Wright took 10th place, as the Wildcats placed 5th overall. In the Middlesex JV Race, other Wildcats earning hardware included Matt Emans (5th), Brad Helies (7th) and Andy "Gip" Fishburn (8th).

Franklin Park was the site for the annual Catholic Memorial Invitational. Wright again sparked the Wildcats, taking 13th place. While the team finished 4th place overall, Tom Armstrong (32nd), Rich Vandevenne (38th) and Luke Kiskaddon (39th) brought home individual medals for the Wildcats.

At the DCL All-League Meet, Rick Wright took 6th place; Sean Becker, the lone senior on the team, finished 15th and Luke Kiskaddon finished 19th. An injury hampered Tom Armstrong, who, nevertheless, managed to cross the line in 20th place. Sophomores Rurik Vandevenne and Brad Helies, and Junior "LA" Dave Newhouse placed 22nd, 30th and 38th.

In the Eastern Mass Meet, Weston finished 8th with Rick Wright in 26th place; Alex Goldman and Luke Kiskaddon in 54th and 55th; Brad Helies and Sean Becker recorded 58th and 13th places.

The outlook is excellent for next years' team with lettermen Rick Wright, Tom Armstrong, Luke Kiskaddon, Alex Goldman, Rurik Vandevenne, Brad Helies, Matt Emans, Andy Fishburn, Dave Newhouse and Chris Pierson returning to spearhead the team.

BOYS'

VARSITY WRESTLING

Jon Floyd wrestles to win at an important meet this season.

Sweat. . . pain. . . burning muscles, Weston High School wrestles with success. The team compiled a nineteen--five record throughout the season and finished a respectable fourth in the Division II Sectionals. Perennial powers, Wayland and Franklin, proved too much of a match for the Wildcats, but rivals Newton-South and Holliston were put into the hands of defeat by the Wildcats.

Each grade provided a varsity wrestler, with a good showing from this year's freshmen. David Harding, at 112 pounds, placed fifth in the section and had a winning record. Peers, Brian Sullivan and Guillermo Kennedy, also had a gread deal of success as freshmen wrestlers. The sophomores also gave the team talent with the abilities of Paul Delacey at 103 pounds and Ryan Shann at 189 pounds. Junior George Kampoures finished with a fourth place in the section and helped the team throughout the year with his knowledge of wrestling techniques. Other juniors included Sam Hunt and David Szekely.

The senior class had a grest deal of depth, posting nine varsity starters. Tri-captains Bill Doyle, at 119, Don Cook, at 135, and Jon Floyd, at 145, all compiled impressive records.

Fellow seniors Sean Driscoll (130), Brian Haufler (140), Jesse Johnson (152), Jeremy O'Mara (160), Kevin Grant (171) and Carl Swanson (HW) also had a a successful season. The great number of seniors on the team provided the necessary experience and knowledge needed for the team.

What a Season!

New Coach, New Players

The 1989-90 Girls' Basketball team had ten players, more than last year's seven, but still a limited number. It was led by four seniors: Melissa Fish, Debbie Foley, Allison King, and Captain Sayaka Takahashi. Since we had a young team, with three freshmen, improvement was expected under the guidance of first year coach, Lisa Cropper.

And improve we did, from the beginning of the season to the end, yet the improvement was not reflected in the record. Even though we had quickness--an advantage of being small--our effort was often obstructed by by our opponent's tall players. Moreover, we often played many of our games with missing players due to their injuries and illness.

But we worked hard, played tough and showed excellent sportsmanship. Bridget MacDonnell, who scored twenty-six points against Wayland, consistently scored high throughout the season. Heather Jones, injured throughout the season, spent her time cheering up the team. Belen Micozzi's steady endeavors and Alyscia Belden's agressive play on the court also supported our team. Dima Rida, Stacy Jupiter and Jenny Weisman displayed great enthusiasm and were an inspiration to the team members.

With the rapid improvement of these young athletes, the team looks forward to a strong future. Good luck next year!

Kept Their Spirit Alive

BOYS' HIGH SCHOOL BASKETBALL

Daryl Carlough avoids the block and scores two.

Despite some fine raw talent and boundless enthusisiam, the basketball team limped home with a three and seventeen record.

Co-Captains Daryl Carlough and Sean Becker provided senior leadership for the young team. Carlough's aggressive style of play was epitomized by his torn knee pads, while Becker led the team in scoring.

Senior center, Gordon Gerstein, was an intimidating force on defense, using his six foot-eight inch frame to block an average of seven shots per game. Fellow seniors, Mark Coriaty and Matt Winer, helped form what one opposing coach called "the most imposing front line in the DCL."

Junior Dave Newhouse emerged at guard, and can be counted on to lead the team next year. The solid play of other juniors, Adam "Big Man" Gilvar and Jamal Fuller, as well as the outside shooting of Chris McShane, will be a pivotal part of the '91 Wildcats.

The emergence of sophomores Chis DiBenedetto and Jamie Neher also has Wildcat faithfuls eagerly looking towards the future.

Despite a frustrating season, the team can be proud of its consistant effort. Although the team didn't produce many victories, they did produce excitement and faithful followers. Furthermore, their shirts were always tucked in!

Jumping the Gun

To An Awesome Season

The 1989-90 season proved to be another sucess for the Red Tide swim team. The strong squad dunked most of their opponents except for two-year state champion Acton-Boxboro. The sensational senior class, led by co-captains Andrea Agnello and Vijay Lathi, brought the team to its fourth co-ed state championship in as many years. John Cronin and Jason Butts made a strong showing in the sprints, while Brian "Boz" DeChristopher and Victor "Cha Cha" Chiang scored big in the breatstroke and the butterfly, respectivly.

Weston wonder Vijay Lathi smashed the all-time scoring record previously held by his older brother, Dinesh, by over 200 points. Lathi also eclipsed the 200 IM record, being the only swimmer in the state, and in Weston's history, to break the elusive two-minute barrier. He also led the 200 medley relay team of juniors Owen Bittinger, Alex Fraser and sophomore Payson Corbiere to a new school record. School records were also set by Hilary Hanson in the girls 100 back, the girls 200 medley and Brad Whitridge in diving.

Commented Coach Foley, "I'm really pleased with the kids this year. They came through with some big swims. We've got a young team and should be a real force next year. But moreover, I'm really proud of the way they came together and won with class."

Freshmen Benny Bloomenthal and Chip "the Chipperbug" Hoffman summed up the team attitude, stating "The team is a great bunch of people. We're already lifting weights to get in shape for next year."

GIRLS' AND BOYS'

VARSITY

TRACK

Will McFarland gives it his all.

Your body is frozen, anticipating the crack of the gun. All you notice is the pounding of your heart and the red track below your feet that in the next few minutes will lead you through excitement, fatigue, collapse and surge, to loss or victory.

The nervousness, anxiety, and adrenaline rush is all a part of the pre-meet jitters experienced by all runners. Many a time the question, "Why do you run?", has been put to us. As classmates watch us train hard everyday after school,giving up our Saturdays for meets, they wonder what we see in the sport. At times, to tell the truth, every runner asks himself the same question, but the answer comes quickly when the team leaves the Wayland Fieldhouse joyous of victory.

The tough workouts and early morning wake-ups all seemed worth it when the Girls' Track team took home the trophy as DCL champs and the trophy as victor of the All-League meet.

The Girls' Team had very strong representation from the sophomore class with Kate Roiter, Lucy Craig, Lori Kinnamon, and Suzy Delea, along with freshman Jacqueline Wohlers, all debuting this season. Helen Kung, Michelle Birgeneau, Heather Spangler, Monica Swanson, Tammy Peeples, and co-captain Crhristy Britton, were just a few of the veterans who bolstered the team.

At the state level, Tammy Peeples once again awed the spectators as she claimed the champion title in the high jump and 4th place in the hurdles.

Nor can we overlook the Boys' Team, which chaulked up a very respectable season, as usual.

The mystique of the trackman is well summed up by Will McFarland who writes, "You walk to the line and stare down the track. You size up your competition and, unless you're Natty Harrison, wonder who's going to win. The muscles in your body become taut as you wait. . . wait. . . BANG!"

Jesse,

Three things: 1) Love the work you choose (the inverse, too); you'll spend, shine and serve better. 2) Remember Granpa Emil's saying, "Life is a struggle, so be happy"; choose what gives you peace, even if it's more work. 3) Be wierd sometimes; it's a way to take joy.

(work x love) + peace + joy = success.

Okay, four things. 4) We're very proud of our not-just-a-techy, jock, thespian, etc., etc., big brother, son.

Images of the Eighties

BELOW: The pro-democracy protests in Tiananmen Square, Beijing, began on April 15, 1989. On June 3rd, troops opened fire on the protesters, using tanks to smash through barricades. Diplomats and Chinese say up to 3,000 people died.

ABOVE. This oil-covered bird is the result of the Alaskan oil spill, occurring in March, 1989, in Prince William Sound. Labeled the worst spill in history, a total of 11 million gallons of crude oil covered the area.

ABOVE. A homeless woman, draped in her possessions, stands over a steam vent in mid-teen temperatures, in Philadelphia, in December, 1987. Homelessness continues as a major problem throughout the United States.

BELOW. Berliners gather atop the Berlin Wall on November 10, 1989, after the East German government removed travel restriction to the West. Separating East and West since 1961, the Wall has come tumbling down.

A Decade in Review

LEFT. An East German mother cries as she says goodbye to her daughter, in September, 1989, as the fence of the West German Embassy in Prague separates them.

ABOVE. President Bush and Lech Walesa raise their arms and give the "V" for victory sign used by Poland's Solidarity movement which has been successful.

Extraordinary Decade Astounding 1989

Suddenly released from the bondage of fear, they gathered by the thousands and the millions, demanding change and chanting "Freedom" in many languages and in many places. They occupied Tianamen Square and danced atop the crumbling Berlin Wall. They won only a moral victory in bloody Beijing, but in places like Budapest, Warsaw and Prague they toppled Communist regimes that had adamantly held sway for decades. In the Year of the Protester, more change was achieved without war than in any other year of this century. It was an astonishing spectacle never to be forgotten.

The new world, that has begun to emerge in 1989, is full of tensions and dangers. Mikhail Gorbachev, who helped to rouse the whirlwind, may yet be threatened by it. He and other leaders are still groping for a new world order to replace the one overtunred so emphatically by the people of the decade.

(Exerpted from Newsweek, December 25,1989)

The Early Eighties

BELOW. "The President is shot!" Ronald Reagan waves, top, then looks up, center, before being shoved into his limousine by secret service agents outside a Washington hotel on March 30, 1980.

BELOW. Barney Clark, recipient of the first artificial heart in December, 1982, is attended to by Dr. William DeVries two days after his surgery.

FAR BELOW. "Up she goes." In 1980, Mount St. Helens erupted, sending a plume of smoke and ash skyward. It had been nearly a century since the mountain had been active.

BELOW. The U.S. ice hockey team celebrates its 4-3 victory over the Societ team during the 1980 Winter Olympic Games in Lake Placid, N. Y. They went on to defeat Finland to capture a gold medal.

Unexpected Events

ABOVE. David Roeder returned to freedom in January, 1981. He was among 52 Americans held hostage in Iran for 444 days after their capture at the U.S. Embassy in Tehran.

Some Disasters Some Miracles

Miracles and unexpected disasters heralded in the new decade. We began the 1980's on a high note, when the U.S. hockey team, against the odds, won the Olympic Gold Medal and we all were infused with patriotism.

A time when Michael Jackson was the hottest of all singers, also saw the heat of the Mount St Helen's eruption in the state of Washington. We were also bombarded with terrorist activities, and some of the hostages taken during the decade are still being held by their kidnappers. Ronald Reagan was shot by a deranged gunman apparently seeking recognition. Thankfully the President fully recovered from his injuries.

One of the miracles of the decade was the successful implantation of an articicial heart in a patient who survived to live more than one-hundred days.

Mid Eighties

The mid-eighties began with a disaster, when the Challenger exploded, in 1986, killing seven crew members, including Christa McCuliffe, a New Hampshire school teacher. The countries' second disaster came in 1987 on Black Monday, when the Dow's 508.32 point drop terrified stock brokers and holders alike. The market managed to right itself without a complete crash.

This period also introduced the world to two talented artists who would continue to be influential through the 80's: Bruce Springsteen and Madonna.

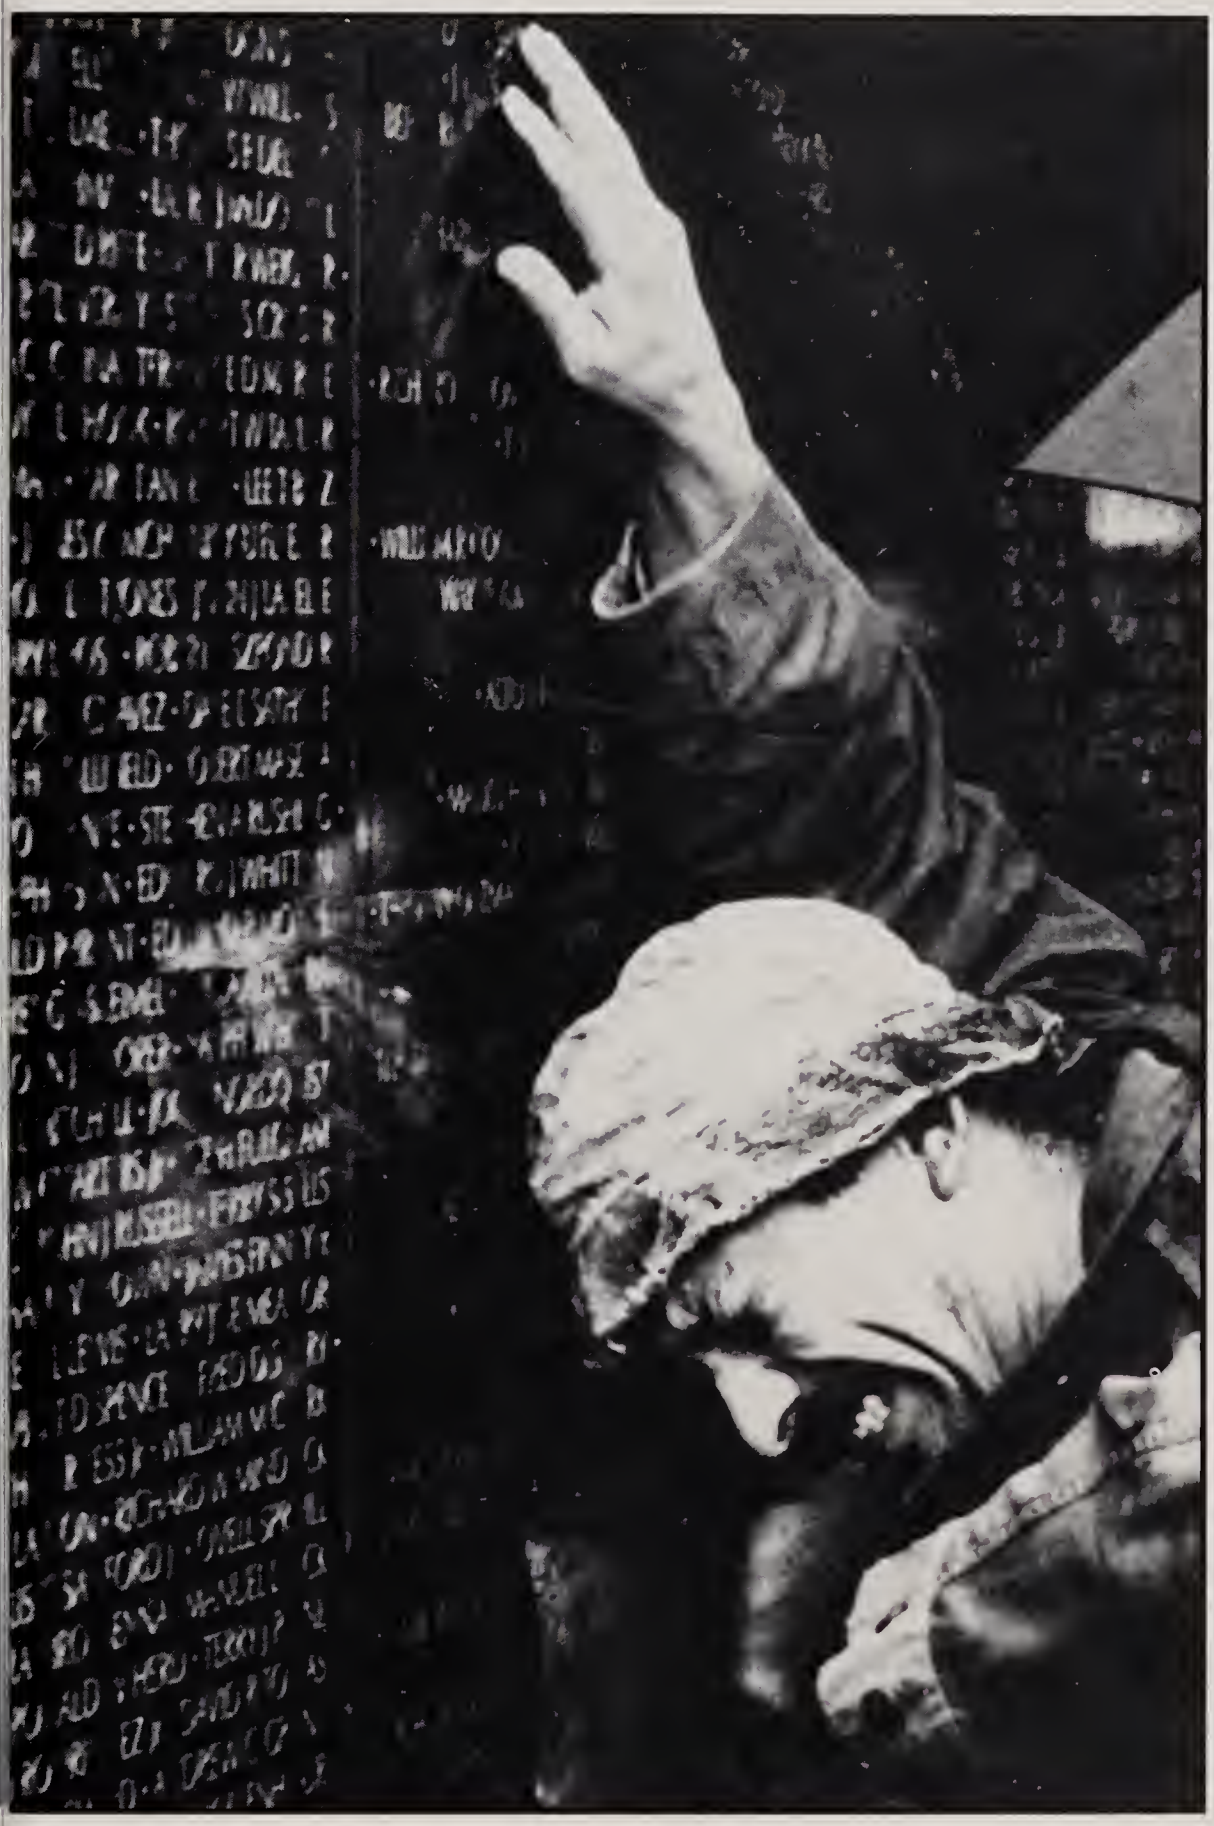
A time of crisis and change, the 80's have served as an appropriate preview to the emerging 90s.

TOP RIGHT. Traders on the floor of the New York Stock Exchange gaze at monitors on October 19, 1987, as the Dow dropped an amazing 508.32 points.

ABOVE. The U.S. space shuttle Challenger explodes after launching on January 28, 1986, killing all crew members.

RIGHT. Rock star Bruce Springsteen performs in front of an American flag as he sings his song, "Born in the U.S.A" in September, 1985.

FAR RIGHT. Madonna is shown here as she appears in a scene in her controversial, but popular, video, "Like a Prayer."



ABOVE. An unidentified man places his hand against the black granite wall of the Vietnam Veteran's Memorial in Washington in November, 1986, as he joined a large group of people visiting the memorial on Veterans' Day.

LEFT. Lt. Col. Oliver North is sworn-in prior to his testimony before the Iran-Contra committee in Washington in July, 1987,

FAR RIGHT. Hurricane Hugo smashed into coastal Charleston, South Carolina, with winds of 135 m.p.h. on September 22, 1989. Congress approved $1.1 billion in emergency aid for the victims, the largest disaster relief package ever.

RIGHT. The goddess of Democracy, a 33-foot replica of the Statue of Liberty, became a symbol of the movement for Democratic reform in China. It was crushed and destroyed by government tanks.

BELOW. Dan Quayle, war veteran chosen by George Bush as his running mate, took office with the President in 1989.

ABOVE. Paula Abdul, a 25-year-old choreographer who got her start teaching Duran Duran and other groups to dance, is now topping the charts herself, as a singer.

RIGHT. Mick Jagger and the Stones launched a 36-city tour in September that proved to be the typical Stones' extravaganza--from fireworks to great music.

An Amazing '89

"Only the little people pay taxes."
--Leona Helmsley, as quoted by her ex-housekeeper Elizabeth Baum

"What a waste it is to lose one's mind - or not to have a mind. How true that is."
--Dan Quayle, mutilating the United Negro College Fund slogan at a Washington D.C. luncheon in May

"I don't know exactly what democracy is. But we need more of it."
--Chinese Student to a N.Y. Times reporter

"He is very down to earth in his demands, and in his lifestyle, he's quite simple.""
--Ivana Trump, on her husband, Doanld

ABOVE. A catastrophic earthquake, measuring 6.9 on the Richter scale, rocked northern California on October 17, 1989, killing at least 62 people and injuring hundreds.

LEFT. Cincinnati Reds Manager Pete Rose, one of the greatest players in the history of baseball, has been banned from the game for life for betting on his own team.

FAR LEFT. Box office smash, Batman, produced over $200 million in revenue. Michael Keaton played Bruce Wayne, also known as Batman, while Jack Nicholson starred as the Joker.

Colophon

"Just Remember", Volume VII of Weston High School's Panorama, is an annual production of the yearbook staff of Weston High School, 444 Wellesley Street, Weston, Massachusetts 02193. It was distributed the week of May 21, 1990.

Panaorama was printed by Hunter Publishing Company, 2505 Empire Drive, P.O. Box 5867, Winston-Salem, North Carolina 27113. Hunter's area representative was Arnie Lohman. The book was 204 pages with a trim size of 8 1/2 by 11 inches; 400 copies were purchased. It was printed on 100 pound gloss paper stock with black ink as the base color.

COVER AND ENDSHEET. Panorama's cover was professionally designed by Hunter Publishing artists, Styleline #576, and individualized by the yearbook editors. It used maroon material with a deep, embossed grain and an overtone rub to accent the grain and antique the design. The design and lettering were applied with an Editionline Silkscreen using silver ink. The cover features our mascot, the Wildcat, which was foil-stamped in silver. Individual names were foil-stamped in silver.

COLOR. Sixteen pages in the opening section were printed in the four-color process.

TYPE. Most body copy featured 10-point Helvetica, #104; some sections used 10-point Times,#178. Picture captions were set in 8-point Helvetica bold, #149. Most headlines were set in Helvetica Bold, with point size varying from 30 to 36 point.

PHOTOGRAPHY. Senior portraits were taken by Tim Morse, Morse Photography, Carlisle, Massachusetts; or were handed in by individual seniors. Underclass pictures were taken by O'Connor School Pictures, Tewksbury, Massachusetts. Candid photos were taken by the yearbook staff photographers, by members of the Photography class; and by Roberta Siegel, Weston, Massachusetts. Numerous candids and "old" photos were contributed by students from Weston High School.

EXPENSES. Panorama was completed on a budget of approximately $20,000. These monies were raised by the Yearbook Staff through patron and advertisement sales; by selling the yearbook; and through our ever-popular "M & M" fundraiser. Copies of the yearbook were sold, in the fall, at a cost of $28 for seniors and $30 for underclassmen. In the spring, any extra books were sold for $32.

Closing

As we reach the Closing Section of Panorama, we do not look at it as an end, but as a beginning. While it is the end of a decade, and the last year for the Senior Class, it is the beginning of a new time in our lives. It is the beginning of a new decade - the '90's.

This Yearbook is a culmination of memories, of images blended, old and new. Faces of the past appear next to faces of the present.

The '80's blend into the 90's, with events of the past shaping those which have stunned and shocked us in the past year.

Sixty-two of us have lived through twelve years together and now we are graduating as "lifers." Others have joined us along the way, contributing to the memories by becoming part of our class.

Yes, this is "the end of the beginning."

ABOVE. Seniors Stacy Martin, Bava Stroud and Susan Raphel enjoy a little sunshine in the parking lot after school. Both Stacy and Bava are graduating early, so we wish them "good luck."

I'll miss you--

Keep in touch--

THIS IS GOODBYE

How does you ever really say goodbye? How do you look into the eyes of all the people you've cared about so many years and simply leave with one spoken word - "goodbye", a hug, some tears and you're off - to the summer and then scattered all over the map to new places with new memories and new goodbyes. Life is a series of cycles - of changing seasons, passing years, all marked from time to time with goodbyes. How many friends will one promise to "keep in touch with," to "write letters every week or month." High school and the four years we've spent here - seems like the most important thing in the world. Our friends are like friends no where else. There is a certain security in having grown-up with the same friends over the years - a certain closeness and understanding. No one else in the whole world will ever see you change so much in such a short time as your best friends have.

And now it's time to say goodbye. We have all changed and grown stronger in the relationships we have made.

Well, "Goodbye. Keep in touch. I'll write soon. I'll miss you."

Congratulations, Class of 1990. Really ready to start again?

LEFT. Jen Love and Alexis Wood, regardless of 90 mile an hour winds and sub-zero temperatures, stand outside the High School to have their "pic" taken.
